1. Purpose. This regulation sets forth the mission and major functions of each of the OSC inactive and excess Government-owned, contractor-operated (GOCO) AAPs.

2. General.

a. The OSC GOCO inactive and excess AAPs are military installations/activities under the jurisdiction of the OSC Commanding General (CG). By Delegation of Authority 99-25, 8 October 1999, the CG has delegated the Director, Munitions and Armaments Directorate, authority to act on his behalf in matters that requires a military commander's action/signature.

b. The installation Government staff of these activities:

(1) Is assigned responsibility and delegated authority to exercise command jurisdiction over the installation.

(2) Is responsible for performing, or requiring to be performed, contract administration for designated plant as assigned in specific delegation as the installation's Government staff.

(3) Performs product assurance functions, in support of procurement and production, when assigned. These functions include both production and process engineering.

(4) Has full and ultimate authority for safety, security, and environmental protection of the installation which means the installation Government staff is responsible whether the operation is on behalf of the Government when the workload is assigned by this Command or whether the operation is under third party contract.

(5) Is entitled to the full functional support of HQ OSC, and the Government technical organizations of the Department of Defense in carrying out its duties.

(6) Has the full-line authority of the OSC CG in calling on the support of Government technical organizations in making independent Government assessments, judgments, and decisions related to safety, security, and environmental impact.

c. Responsibilities and authorities that can be redelegated to the Department of the Army civilians will be exercised by the assigned installation Government staff.

3. Mission-General. Inactive and excess AAPs may do the following mission assignments under contract operation:

a. Operation and maintenance of inactive facilities in support of current operations. Maintenance and/or layaway of stand-by facilities (including machinery and package lines received from industry or other Government installations) in condition to permit rehabilitation and resumption of production within the prescribed time limitations.

b. Management, maintenance of accountability for and accomplishment of final disposition/transfer of personal and real property.

c. Receipt, surveillance, maintenance, renovation, storage, physical inventory, issue, demilitarization, and salvage of field serviced stocks, items of industrial stocks, and international logistics requirements stocks.

d. Procurement, receipt, storage, and issuance of necessary supplies, equipment, components, and essential materials.

e. Industrial readiness planning, master planning and emergency planning, including preparation, review, and revision of prescribed plans.

f. Provision of support services to tenants.

g. Custodial maintenance and administrative functions of sub-installations.

h. Provision of support to and surveillance of Production Base Support Program.

i. Provision of a plant protection program in compliance with applicable regulations and contract requirements.

j. Provision and promotion of an energy conservation program.

k. Management of an environmental program to remediate and/or keep installation in compliance with all Federal, state, and local environmental laws, regulations, and rules.
